The lady had a big roll of bills on hand amounting to $80,000, which she would gladly dispose of dollar for dollar. A lady in Columbia, Va., also sent a letter of inquiry. ### LEAGUE TO MEET PRIDAY NIGHT.

Annual Gathering of Wheelmen Adjourned Over Until This Time.

The Richmond League of Wheelmen, composed of pretty much all of the wellknown bicyclists of this city, was to have held its annual meeting in the assembly hall of the Chamber of Commerce last night, but as the attendance was not as large as desired for such an important meeting, it was decided expedient to adjourn over until next Friday night at 8 o'clock, at which time officers

Inight at 8 o'clock, at which time officers for the ensuing year will be chosen, and much business of interest to wheelmen generally will be transacted.

The secretary was instructed last night to send a postal to every wheelman in the city, and invite him to attend the inecting at the Chamber Friday evening.

A special meeting of the Council Committee on Police was held at the First Police Station yesterday. Present were Messrs. E. D. Starke (chairman), Blanks, Montgomery, and Williams. The following police commissioners—C. J. Bosher, L. C. Figg., J. B. Weish, J. F. Jacob, and D. A. Weinburn—were on hand also. Chief Howard reported the necessity of having an office for the Captain of the First Station, as there is no private place for the execulty officer of the station now. Commissioner Bosher said that the costs collected from the Police Court and turned over to the board were so small at this time that the board was only able to raise about $75 towards the proposed improvement, and as it would cost about $200, he asked that the committee appropriate the difference, as the board would have to furnish furniture for the office. On motion of Mr. Bianks, the committee decided to appropriate the sum of $125 from the police contingent fund to make the improvement.

A sub-committee, consisting of Messrs. Montgomery and Williams, was appointed, who, in conjunction with a committee, Private Office for Captain Thomas.

The committee, however, has not been idle, but is actively at work laying its plans. It is probable that the committee, which is composed of Colonel A. S. Buford (chalrman), Messrs. W. R. Trigg, Arthur B. Clarke, S. D. Crenshaw, and Henry L. Cabell, will go to meet the Armor-Plate Board, and lay before the members the inducements that Richmond has to offer Uncle Sam to build a plant in this city. the improvement.

A sub-committee, consisting of Mess7s.

Montgomery and Williams, was appointed, who, in conjunction with a committee from the Police Board, will supervise the work. Major Howard was requested to furnish the committee with an estimate of work absolutely needed at the Second and Third Police stations.

OUITE AN EXCITING STREET SCENE.

The Bookbinder Takes Refuge in Real Estate Office, and Mr. Christian Pursues, But Is Unable to Enter-A Warrant Issued.

An encounter that was not without its humorous phases occurred yesterday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock. Mr. E. D. Christian, Jr., called on Mr. S. Buford Adkins upon a business matter. The latter was preparing to make a deposit, and Mr. Christian became inpatient and made a remark to which Mr. Adkins took exception by striking him with a stick. Hot words followed, but the two gentlemen were separated, and Mr. Christian left the office and went to Mr. Nelson's stable, on Franklin street, from which place he is said to have telephoned Mr. Adkins that Mr. Nelson wanted some printing done, and would like Mr. Adkins to call in person, and, as soon as possible, to give an estimate upon it. Mr. Adkins recognized Mr. Christian's voice and declined the invitation.

Mr. Adkins then left his home, intending to call at the bank on his way. He was riding his wheel up Main street with this object in view, when he caught sight of Mr. Christian following hard after him. He "scorched" up Main to Eleventh, and turned towards Bank street, but he did not gain much ground and when he reached the opening to the Graham building he left his wheel and ran through it to the Bank-street entrance. The two gentlemen were fol-lowed by a large and interested crowd, values. See what this advertisement trance. until Mr. Adkins took refuge in Mr. A B. Apperson's office. The door was closed, and Mr. Christian was refused admittance. Mr. Adkins, whose bicycle had been rescued by Mr. Lacy, was assisted over the wall in rear of the build-ing into the post-office yard, and his bicycle was let down after him, and he rode away. The crowd was a very eager and interested one, and excitement ran high. One lady who was seated in a law office in the Graham building, where depositions were being taken, started up sess the merits of being the right sorts; in alarm as the two gentlemen rushed the proper good maker's stuffs, and at the through the building, believing that another earthquake had visited the city.

Mr. Adkins said last night that he did not care to have a difficulty with Mr. Christian, and though he was not afraid of him, he did his best to avoid him, not wishing to become embroiled on the public streets. He had issued a warrant for Mr. Christian's arrest, he said, charging him with cursing and abusing him. The warrant had not been served last night. The police reported that Mr. Christian was out of the city, and would not return until this evening.

Contemplated Amalgamation of the Republican Factions. Chairman J. Taylor Ellyson, of th

State Democratic Committee, returned to the city Sunday night from a trip through West Virginia and to Cincinnati, and left again yesterday morning on private business. He reports almost as much apathy existing in the cam-paigns in Ohio as in Virginia.

The work of arousing lethargic Demo-crats throughout the State continues, and the candidates as well as the speakers who are assisting them upon the stump are prosecuting their campaign as vigo-rously as possible. It is estimated that $1.39 each.

The Republicans are preparing to combine their forces in the counties in which they have candidates, though. There is at present considerable quiet talk of having a conference between leaders of the two factions in the G. O. There is still much talk in Democratic circles of a change in the method of choosing United States senators and let them be nominated by primaries. This question was brought up at the Roanoke convention, and though there defeated, showed great popularity. General Fitzhugh Lee is understood to be in favor of such a plan, and has expressed himself. hugh Lee is understood to be in-favor of such a plan, and has expressed himself since the announcement of his proposed candidacy against Senator Martin as being willing and anxious to submit his claims to the people.

Called Upon the Chief for Assistance. Called Upon the Chief for Assistance.

About noon yesterday a woman called at the office of the Chief of Police and reported that her husband, William Dillon, was lying ill with chilis in a wagon out near the Exposition-Grounds, and she was seeking assistance. She said that she had three small children (all girls) there with him. The family left Wilmington, Del., some time ago, coming South with the hope of obtaining something to do, but without success. They had had nothing to eat since Sunday morning, and her children were crying for bread.

The Chief was not in, neither was the Mayor. The officer in charge of the Chief's headquarters was touched by the woman's story and appearance, and gave her all the money he had, which she gratefully accepted, and started at once to appease the hunger of her little ones. William A. Pinkerton, the well-known detective of Chicago, has written to Sergeant Alex. M. Tomlinson, of this city, denying that he was recently robbed of $200 by a pickpocket in Denver. The article appeared in a late issue of a Richmond paper. Detective Tomlinson clipped it, and, pasting it on a sheet of the note-paper used at headquarters, forwarded it to Mr. Pinkerton at Denver, with the laconic comment, "Wotteibill." The western Pinkerton replied with a story. Said he: "I went after a crook once who had stolen a lot of silverware. I found the 'swag' wrapped up in a newspaper in his house. When I pinched him, says he: 'I hope you don't believe I did it.' 'But.' says I, I must, for I found the 'swag', says he: 'you don't believe everything you find in the newspapers.'
